[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO APRIL 28.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—In the House Worth offered a resolution of inquiry as to the power of Congress to regulate the safety and fare of passengers on railroads. Adopted.

Payne introduced a bill to admit Arkansas to representation in Congress. Referred to committee on reconstruction.

Impeachment.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—In the Senate the Court opened at noon. The Chief Justice announced the pending question to be the motion of Edmunds to admit official reporters to the secret session to take down the debate on the final proceedings.

Several amendments were offered and rejected and the final consideration of the subject was postponed until after the argument shall be concluded.

The additional rules offered by Sumner were also laid over until the close of the argument.

Stevens then began to read his argument from the printed slips but was soon compelled to sit down from weakness. Butler read the remainder of the argument in the Senate.

Stevens began by saying he did not intend to make a long speech. He should, therefore, pass over the other articles of impeachment and confine himself to the one proposed by himself. This he considered was amply sufficient to secure the conviction of the President if there were no others. When Andrew Johnson succeeded to the Presidency, he took an oath to support the Constitution and see that the laws are faithfully executed. How had he kept this oath? Let his public acts for the past two years answer. He would not refer to what might be told of his minor crimes, but would glance for a moment at his last grand and flagrant violation of laws he had sworn to execute. He referred to his removal of Secretary Stanton.

The speaker here entered into a general discussion of the Tenure of Office Act. At this point Stevens was compelled to stop reading, whereupon General Butler came forward and volunteered to read it for him. Stevens thanked him, and Butler proceeded to read the speech in a clear tone. The learned counsel for the President had contended that Johnson, on succeeding to the President office, had entered on a new term. He denied this in toto. He was but serving an unexpired term of Lincoln's. Johnson in defense of himself, had cited the action of his predecessor. Had there been no laws by Congress, then his action would have been parallel with theirs, but since they sat in the White House Congress had passed a law which made it criminal for him to remove officers without the advice and consent of the Senate. The President says he did not remove Stanton under the Tenure of Office Act, and then in a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury contradicted his own statement.

The speech proceeds at length to discuss the 11th article of impeachment and concludes with a statement that peace cannot be restored until Johnson is removed.

After Stevens had finished, Williams of Pennsylvania, of the Managers addressed the Senate. Williams began by saying that this issue was not sought by the representatives of the people, but was forced upon them by the Executive by a long series of bold usurpations of power. He said the master key to the whole history of the Administration was to be found in the attempt of the President to force the rebel States into the Union by means of his executive authority. To accomplish this object what has he left undone? Let your records answer. They will show that instead of convening Congress in a momentous crisis he issued his royal proclamation for the assembling of Conventions and the reorganization of State Governments, prescribed qualifications for voters and settling the terms of their admission into the Union. He created offices unknown to law and filled them with men who were notoriously disloyal, and disqualified by a law at the same time fixed by his own mere will; paid those officers in contemptuous disregard of law, and paid them, too, out of the contingent fund of the departments of the Government, supplied the expenses of his new Governments by turning over to them the spoils of the dead Confederacy, and authorized the officers to levy taxes on the conquered people. He passed away unnumbered millions of property to rebel railroad companies without consideration, or sold it to them in clear violation of law on long credits, and at a valuation of his own, without any secretary whatever. He stopped the bureaus of the Freedmen and Refugees and ... taking from them land appropriated by Congress to loyal men of the Republic, and restored to rebels their justly forfeited estates after some had been vested by law in the government of the United States. He invaded with ruthless hand the heart of the treasury and plundered its contents for the benefit of favored rebels by ordering the restoration of the proceeds of sales of captured and abandoned property which had been placed in its custody by law.

Williams proceeded to reply in detail to the answer of the President's counsel to charges of the Managers.

At 4 o'clock, Morrill stated that Williams was unable to finish his speech, and moved that the Court adjourn, which was agreed to and the Senate soon after adjourned.

Notable Death.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Jonathan E. Field, brother to Cyrus died Saturday, the 23d at Stockbridge, Massachusetts.

Southern Elections—Miscellaneous.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Gen. Canby telegraphs to Gen. Grant that all but four remote precincts of South Carolina are heard from. The majority for the Constitution is 43,606.

The returns from North Carolina come in slowly. The majority so far for the Constitution is about 7,500.

The President has stated that the nomination of Schofield as Secretary of War, is to be in place of Stanton removed, and not 'to be' removed, as was previously telegraphed.

The bill introduced in the House to-day for the admission of Arkansas, is similar to that reported last March by Farnsworth, relative to Georgia. It declares that as Arkansas has formed a State government republican in form she shall be entitled to representation when the Legislature ratifies the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, provided the Constitution shall never be changed so as to deprive any class of citizens of the right to vote, etc.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Henry Chauncey has arrived from Aspinwall.

The Tribune's Atlanta special says fifty four counties gave Bullock, Republican, 5,500 majority for Governor.

The Herald's Washington special says Schofield's nomination was made with his consent and approval.

The World's dispatch mentions rumors of a break in the Republican line of Senators. Four are named as certain to vote against impeachment. The friends of the President are now confident of his acquittal.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The boiler of the Pennsylvania Rolling Mill exploded this afternoon, demolishing the building, killing three men and wounding many others. Thirteen wounded have been taken from the ruins.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—Phillips' special Treasury agent was assaulted in the street by two men, who knocked him down with a sling shot and beat him very badly. Mr Phillips states that about three weeks previous to the attack, he had pointed out the distilleries of Wright & Co. and D. C. Freeman to Gen Burbridge. The Treasury agent had just arrived from Washington, where these distilleries were reported by him to the authorities. They were subsequently seized by orders from Washington. A short time afterwards Mr. Phillips was offered $10,000 and a place in the whisky ring to compromise, which he declined. He was then told his life was in danger, and a night or two after he was assaulted. The distillers were subsequently released.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The President to-day sent a message to Congress including a communication for Secretary Seward covering a letter from Mr. Bancroft relative to the treaty recently negotiated with North Germany, which on the speeches made in the North German Federal Council by Mr. Konig and Count Bismarck, provides that unauthorized emigration can take place, even if the emigrant should have ceased to be an American citizen, and the German American citizens emigrating to North Germany cannot be held to discharge any only military duty.

PITTSBURG, April 28.—The Sales Tannery at Allegheny was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $50,000. Several men leaped from the windows, eight of whom were seriously injured—two probably mortally.

HAVANA, April 27.—The new Dominican Commissioner to negotiate the sale of Samana, Senior Jesurun, banker of Curacoa and agent of Baez, has arrived en route for the United States. The people of St. Domingo are greatly exasperated, which will probably place Luperon and Seabrok at the head of the Government. It is believed that Baez's party is acting in concert with Salnave of Hayti.

Advices from Hayti show that the war is progressing. It is reported that the Cacos are commanded by American officers. Salnave is losing ground daily.

Havana specials say the Congress of St. Domingo Deputies is on leaving to amend the Constitution and confirm the leading points of Baez's policy. Those were to Samana a free port of entry and a general mail station, and to arrange the mail and trade service so that Samana should form a central station and become the centre of Caribbean telegraph service. A brother of Baez and Gen. Cabaro have gone to Hayti to negotiate a permanent alliance between the two Republics.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, April 27.—Advices from Sydney, Australia, say Farrell, who attempted to murder Prince Alfred, has been tried, found guilty and sentenced to death.

The trial of the Clarkenwell prisoners continues. To-day after receiving a charge from the Chief Justice, the jury retired and after a brief absence returned. Barrell was found guilty. All the others were acquitted.

Great joy pervades the whole kingdom over the news from Abyssinia and the escape of Prince Alfred. To-day is observed as an impromptu holiday.

LONDON, April 28.—Both Houses of Parliament, to-night, without a dissenting voice, voted an address to the Queen on the subject of the attempt to assassinate Prince Alfred expressing the sympathy of the British nation with the Royal family in the untoward event which has filled them with sorrow and the country with horror, and hoping that the Prince will soon be restored to health.

In the House of Commons D'Israeli, in reply to a question by Mr. Layard made some remarks on the subject of the Abyssinia war, in which he spoke in flattering terms of the achievements of Gen. Napier, his army and all who gave aid to the expedition. The conquest of Abyssinia he said was only equal to that of Mexico by Cortez.

The House subsequently went into Committee on the Irish question.

The first of Mr. Gladstone's resolutions was debated at length, but none of the most prominent members took part in the discussion. Among the speakers were Messrs. Bullwin, Challis, Lefroy, O'Donohue and Horseman, in favor of the resolution and Messrs. Harcke, Gen. Peel and Lord John Manners against it. Adjourned at one o'clock.

The case of Barrey connected with the plot at Buckingham Palace came up for preliminary examination. The Greek fire proved to be phosphorus only. The charges against the prisoner was strong and he was remanded for trial.

BERLIN, April 28.—The third session of the North German Parliament commenced to-day. King William made a speech. He said the aim of the Parliament should be the mutual and material interests of Germany. He advised the fulfillment of the treaty with Austria and Spain. He hoped a future to the national good will rule in all their proceedings. He congratulated them on the peaceful and friendly local relations and trusted that those of North Germany with the great Powers of Europe would justify the belief that the main utterance of speech was pacific throughout. He concluded by saying that in all events he might count upon the united powers of Germany. On the conclusion of his speech he shook hands heartily with the Bavarian Minister. The latter called for three cheers for the king, which were given with a will.

LONDON, April 27.—The Times' telegram states Theodore was attacked by the British advance on the 10th of April and repulsed, losing 500 men killed. He was subsequently deserted by the remainder of his troops. The King then retreated inside the fort ess of Magdalla where he was supported by some few devoted followers. He made a desperate resistance to the English but finding his cause was made hopeless by an assault he committed suicide by a pistol-shot as the British approached his last stand point.

FROM THE NORTH.

VICTORIA, April 28.—The schooner Growler and all on board are reported lost. No particulars received yet.

Particulars of the Wreck—11 P. M.

The British Colonist contains a long account of the wreck of the new fur company's schooner Growler, with 12 lives and a cargo of merchandise, valued at $35,000. The Growler left this port on the 10th ult. and is supposed to have been wrecked on a reef of rocks at Cape Murray, about latitude 50°. The natives found four bodies—three men and a woman—floating in the surf, together with a quantity of cargo and portions of the wreck.

Capt. Lewis, of the H. B. Company's steamer Otter, touched near the spot and purchased a gold breast-pin, which is recognized as the property of the captain of the ill fated vessel. The names of the lost are Horace Coffin Captain G. H. Sprague, Geo. Nichols, Abraham Jackson, Thos Riley, A. Stewart, C. A. Timpson, John Shepherd Sand Thompson, Harris McAlmond and a half breed woman known as Estelle; also a young man name not known, from San Francisco.

Cargo uninsured—vessel insured for $3,500.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—The Democratic State Convention will meet to morrow.

Thirteen thousand seven hundred and seventy three dollars has been subscribed by citizens of this city towards extinguishing the debt of St. Mary's Cathedral. Donohoe, Kelly & Co., and T. D. Murphy, each head the list with $1,000 subscription.

An old man named Patrick Moran was run over by a truck yesterday. The wheels passed over his chest and head, mangling and crushing him so terribly that his life is despaired of. At last accounts he was very low and suffering terribly.

The State Telegraph Company propose to inaugurate a system of night dispatches between this city, Sacramento and Virginia City, at a reduction of one half the usual rates. Messages will be received any time during the day and sent during the night.

KUKLUX KLAN—CALIFORNIA BRANCH.—The The executive branch of the Democratic organization has opened the campaign in good earnest in the county of Nevada. The local papers of Grass Valley chronicle two or three active raids of the Klan upon "Chinese ranches" within the last seven days. In one of these three of the "almond-eyed" were beaten and robbed. In another, "the robbers hung four of the Chinamen to make them produce their money," one of them was so nearly murdered that "the blood was forced from his nostrils and ears." The Klan were rewarded by $30 in coin and dust. The local paper remarks that the parties to this robbery are known to the officers, and that they had better go to Sweetwater. They are no doubt all known to the Chinese, but that avails nothing, because the Legislature refused to recognize the Chinese as human, and these robbers are merely a part of the Executive Committee which that sort of Democratic legislation authorized. The late Assembly has reason to congratulate itself upon the promptness of the Executive Committee of the party in reaping the fruits of its theory. They are worthy coadjutors. The Assembly prepares the feast and the Klan eats it. The Governor dines with the Chinese Embassadors.—Sacramento Union.

Here is what the Springfield, Illinois, Register, a prominent Democratic paper, said of Andrew Johnson and impeachment, three years ago:

It is now reported that Thad. Stevens declares, if the House of Representatives was in session, he would move the impeachment of the debauched buffoon. It is to be hoped Thad.'s indignation will not die out before the session commences. His virtuous wrath should not be short lived. Let Mr. Thad. Stevens maintain his proper indignation until the next session, and if in the meantime, Andy Johnson does not resign, a most improbable conjecture, nor die off in a drunken debauch—equally improbable, for Heaven is chastening this nation in divers miraculous ways—then remove him by impeachment.

A SWINDLED SWAIN.—An Irish newspaper tells of a young woman desirous of being married, but who was prevented by the fact that neither she nor her accepted lover had sufficient money for the necessary fee. In this emergency she went to an old sweetheart whom she had once rejected, and asked him to loan her the sum, not stating her object in borrowing and hinting that she had experienced a change of heart and mind in his favor. The money was lent and duly spent in uniting the two lovers. The swindled swain is represented as going about like a raging lion, seeking whom he may wallop.

SETTING TYPE BY ELECTRICITY.—An inventor at Washington claims the discovery of a process for setting or distributing type by machinery operated by electricity. Or, in other words, by means of one of these machines located in one of the newspaper offices in New York or Chicago, and connected by telegraph with the national capital, the reporter or operator in Washington could put his dispatch in type at the same time that he transmits it by telegraph—the machine standing in New York or Chicago, while he is in Washington.

Judge Barrett, of Vermont, has some clear ideas on the divorce question, and in granting a petition, at a recent term of the Windsor County Court, prefaced it with the pithy remark: "My associates think, from the evidence, a divorce ought to be granted, and I think so, too, from what I know of the parties. I don't think these parties ought to be yoked up together any longer, any more than any other cattle." In all, Judge Barrett "unyoked" twenty three couples at that session of the Court.

An incident occurred at Rochester (N. H.) at the election, which is worthy of note. A gallant captain had come a thousand miles to vote, and was accosted by a Democrat to the effect that he should not think he could afford to leave at such a time as this. "I went," said the captain, "a thousand miles to fight the rebels with my sword, and I have now come a thousand miles to fight them at the ballot-box."

IMPEACHMENT.

Johnson's "Circle" Speeches in Evidence.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

The Managers feel to-night that they have made very great headway with their case. The first step was to recall Mr. Tinker, manager of the Western Union Telegraph, and after placing him on the stand, to put in evidence a copy of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, and also the President's volunteer message on the subject. These were introduced to show the matter to which the telegrams to Parsons, on the part of the President related. Mr Tinker also testified to the copy of a speech made by Mr. Johnson on the 18th of August, to a committee from the Philadelphia Convention, as forwarded by telegraph to the Associated Press. The attempt to introduce this copy as an accurate report of Mr. Johnson's speech was strongly opposed by his counsel, but they were promptly met at all points by the Managers, and one point after another made in favor of the reception of the various short-hand reports was settled in favor of the Managers.

THE TENTH ARTICLE.

During the whole discussion the [illegible] appeared very greatly annoyed and disconcerted. They appeared as if they had relied upon the shutting out of a great deal of the proof by which it was expected to prove the tenth article. The general character of the speech in the East Room was brought out very clearly by the [illegible] tions of Mr Butler, and the extracts read from the reports made there. It appeared that Col. [illegible] Moore, the President's Private Secretary, took a report of the speech when written out for the Associated Press, and revised it carefully. Still, as so revised, it contained all the portions which are charged in the tenth article. The [illegible] men examined touching the reports of this [illegible] bore themselves very handsomely; were all [illegible] prompt and positive in their answers, and not in the least disturbed by the labored attempts of Evarts to induce them, by cunning questions, to discredit their own work. The arguments used by the counsel for the defence to [illegible] the [illegible] of taking reports of speeches by short-hand were made to a court which understood the [illegible] of such argument too well, as the [illegible] of Congress is each day unanswerable [illegible] the accuracy attained by the present [illegible] of photography. It was with the [illegible] that the President's counsel yielded to the [illegible] tion of the reports submitted of the [illegible] question. They saw that, [illegible] on this one, all the rest would follow.

THE CLEVELAND SPEECH.

Still, when the question of the Cleveland [illegible] came up they renewed their [illegible], but they were fruitless. The first witness, Mr. Hudson, Ed., of the Cleveland Leader, was examined at length concerning an account of the speech as given in his paper. Mr. Hudson gave his evidence in a cool, business-like and earnest way, which won general admiration. His cross-examination by Mr. Evarts may justly be termed a [illegible] raid, but the comfort Mr. Evarts received from his attempts to entangle the witness was not at all [illegible] rate with the efforts put forth. The [illegible] can be said of the [illegible] given by Mr. [illegible] of the New York World. The [illegible] of the gentleman who reported for the Cleveland [illegible] went to show the disgraceful character of the scene, so far as the President's [illegible] to the [illegible] was concerned. His [illegible] the political character was amusing. [illegible] when asked its politics, that it was then what was known as Johnson R[illegible] [illegible] call it, Post Office [illegible] the editor was Postmaster [illegible] Mr. [illegible] The examination [illegible] the two [illegible] and the testimony of Col. Moore, the President's [illegible] ry, brought out some [illegible] Mr. Johnson's [illegible] character of these [illegible] is already [illegible] well known. Three reports of the Cleveland [illegible] were put in evidence. That of the [illegible] as the main report, it having [illegible] cover the whole ground of the [illegible], that of the Cleveland Herald, and the phonographic report of the World, which was held to be entirely accurate so far as it went, it not covering the last of the [illegible] the latter on the ground that it did not [illegible] to be entirely a verbatim report, but that the part was taken in long hand. Upon this the Chief Justice ruled against it, but was [illegible] by a larger than the usual party vote, Mr. [illegible] Johnson and Van Winkle voting with the Republicans in holding it to be good evidence.

IMPORTANT TELEGRAMS.

The Managers are finding the telegraph [illegible] a mine of wealth. Among other original [illegible] they have found one which shows that President Johnson formally announced at his first Cabinet meeting, held the day he was sworn in as President, that he desired to retain them all. In view of the repeated denials of Mr. Johnson's [illegible] that he had ever appointed Mr. Stanton, this dispatch becomes of great interest and importance, if it be deemed necessary to show that anything more than the President's daily [illegible] of Mr. Stanton was needed to make the latter Johnson's Secretary of War. The Managers have not fully decided whether they will put the [illegible] in evidence at present or not. It has been ascertained further [illegible] the [illegible], that at a Cabinet meeting to which allusion is made, Mr. Stanton said to Mr. Johnson that he had his resignation as Secretary of War in his pocket. The President then said he did not desire to [illegible] it and then made the announcement [illegible] of in the subjoined dispatch.

The Washington special of the New York Times says:

"The canvass for the Vice Presidency is the subject which, next to Impeachment, now attracts most attention. It is a matter of [illegible] private comment in both Houses of Congress, and since the public announcement by Hon. Ben. Wade, that he don't care for the Presidency, but does care for the Vice Presidency, his friends have thrown off all reserve, and are [illegible] the [illegible] vigorous efforts to win support for their candidate. But it is up hill work. The count upon a large element of strength from the [illegible] South[illegible] States, nearly all of which will send delegates to Chicago, but none of them will be [illegible] unless they have been admitted to representation in Congress. This is the explicit language of the call. Beyond Ohio no Northern State has fully declared for Wade. Colfax seems to be gaining ground, and if some one of the [illegible] candidates from the East cannot be united upon, say Fenton, Wilson, Hamlin or Buckingham, Colfax is certain to be strongly [illegible] from that section. The Representatives from New Jersey and Tennessee, whose delegates have not been instructed, say that they are surer for Colfax than any one else. While every State west of Ohio, including those on the Pacific coast, has either declared for Colfax, or will do so when their Conventions meet, Wade's friends are very confident however, and are already intimating that Wade will be President before the Convention meets, and that will be a great card in his favor".

The Idaho Statesman has the exact [illegible] measurement of J. S. Smith, as will be seen by the following:

He is cunning, artful, and utterly without principle. On the stump he is smooth, plausible, and sanctimonious. We have heard him in ten days' time advocate every shade of principle, from moderate Republicanism to moderate Democracy—his creed being always adopted to his locality and audience. As a politician he is unscrupulous and unprincipled. He is a smooth hypocrite, who would tell any sort of lie to get a vote, and swear to it if necessary. We don't consider him an honest Democrat; such a man we could respect. He is simply a sly, artful, hypocritical, ambitious demagogue.

The following ten New Yorkers paid the heaviest taxes last year: William B. Astor, $345,000, A. T. Stewart, $143,000, Peter Goelet, $95,000, Peter Lorillard, $76,000, James Lenox, $73,000, Est. Schermerhorn, $46,000, Est. Rhinelander $44,000 James Brown $43,000 Cornelius Vanderbilt, $40,000, U. and M. M. Hendricks, $40,000.

A SCOTCHMAN'S ADVICE TO THE PRESIDENT.—A Washington telegram says a Scotchman sent a dispatch to the President recently from Edinburgh advising him to resign. He had the politeness to pay his message. It cost him over one hundred dollars.

His Reverence Fibbing Again

Since the people of Oregon have heard the recent speeches of Rev. Joseph Smith, of course they do not expect him to tell the truth in any thing he may say in the canvass. Having set out in the campaign with a deliberate design of covering up the odious record of his party by bald misrepresentation and open falsehood, it could not reasonably be expected that he would return from his devious ways to walk in the path of truth even for a moment, until defeat and humiliation, the reward of falsehood and hypocrisy, should overtake him in the June election. After what the people have already heard from him, they will not be surprised at any falsehoods he may utter. After having heard him declare that his party did not attempt to thwart the Government during the war; after having heard him assert that the "Democracy" favored and demanded the suppression of the rebellion and the punishment of traitors; after having heard him claim the Pacific Railroad as a Democratic measure which the Republicans opposed,—after having heard all this and much more from the mouth of the Rev. Joseph Smith, the people of this part of the State will not be surprised to learn that this brazen-faced hypocrite, while in Southern Oregon, also asserted that the Homestead Act was a Democratic measure. It would not be at all astonishing to hear that by this time he was asserting that the Chicago Convention of 1864 was held by the "Black Republicans," who infamously resolved that the war was a failure, and that the Government ought to stop it at once

Of course there is no intelligent person who does not know that during Buchanan's Administration the Homestead Act was a favorite measure of the Republican party. Prior to the National Republican Convention of 1860, that party had succeeded in passing through the House of Representatives a Homestead Law, but the Democratic party having a large majority in the Senate, had refused to pass the measure. This led the Republicans to insert a resolution in their National platform "demanding the passage by Congress of the complete and satisfactory Homestead measure which had already passed the House" But the Senate did not pass it, so long as that body was controlled by Democrats. Its passage was delayed until the 6th of May, 1862, when it finally passed the Senate, every Democrat in that body, save one, voting against it, and every Senator who was then in [illegible] with the Republican party voting for it. Among the nays appears the name of Senator Stark of Oregon. See Congressional Globe, 2d Session Thirty-Seventh Congress, Part Third, Page 1981.

In the early part of the passage of the bill by the [illegible] it was before the House. The only opposition which it met in that body was from the Democratic side. Some of the Democratic members, however, voted for it, though others voted against it. Among those voting nay, when the bill was put on its passage, was George K Shiel, the Democratic Representative from Oregon. See Congressional Globe, Second Session, Thirty-Seventh Congress, Part Second, Page 1035 A Democratic Representative from a State whose citizens had each been given a square mile of land by the General Government, voted against a Homestead Act, designed to secure to actual settlers the benefits of a portion of the public domain of the United States. Senator Nesmith, not belonging to either party, but remembering his Democratic education, did not vote at all. But Senator Stark and Representative Shiel, the truly "Democratic" members of the Oregon delegation, adhered to the "time honored principles" and voted nay on the bill which Rev. Joseph Smith claims as a Democratic measure.

No one has forgotten that when the Republican party was contending against the slave oligarchy and their Northern Democratic allies for a Homestead Act, the battle cry was, "Lands for the landless." A law securing free homes upon the public domain was championed by the Republicans as a free-soil measure, and was opposed by the slave oligarchy and Democratic dough faces for the same reason This measure was one which the Republicans regarded as a most potent means for checking the extension of slavery. It was calculated to fill the Territories with an enterprising population of actual settlers, laborers themselves, and devoted to free labor. This was the secret of Southern and Northern Democratic opposition to the measure. This was the reason why it never became a law until the Republicans had obtained control of both Houses of Congress. It can not have been forgotten by any what a long and arduous struggle took place in Congress over the proposition to grant "lands to the landless." Galusha A Grow, an able Republican member from Pennsylvania was leader in the House in support of the measure. The bill had failed to come to a vote during the first session of the Thirty-Sixth Congress, and on the first day of the second session, December 3d, 1860, the moment the roll had been called, Grow sprang to his feet to call up the Homestead bill as the very first business of the session. This is an example of the zeal with which the Republicans pressed this question. They regarded the measure as one of vital importance to freedom in the struggle with slavery. This was the reason why the Republican National Convention of 1860 passed a resolution demanding the passage of the bill. No measure, not even the abolition of slavery, was more distinctively opposed to the "Democratic" policy As a part of the scheme to resist the extension of slavery, it was one of the measures on which the great Republican triumph of 1860 was secured This is the history of the Homestead Act, as every well informed person knows, and hypocritical Jo Smith in claiming it as a "Democratic measure seems determined to establish a character as a falsifier which shall rise above, or, to speak more properly, which shall sink below, that of any other individual who has ever been publicly known in Oregon. He has piled one falsehood upon another till he has got so far above the common plane of an truth that his monstrous fabrications

The Kuklux Democracy of San Francisco are at work. We read for instance in one of the papers of that city how a lot of scoundrels recently amused themselves by throwing a Chinese woman down in the street, and dragging her back and forth by the hair.

The bill reported by Farnsworth for the admission of Arkansas to representation in Congress, contains, as we learn by the dispatches a clause to the effect that that State shall never limit the exercise of the suffrage The bill reported about a month ago for the admission of Alabama contained a similar proviso, but it was rejected in Congress by a vote of 74 to 34, on the ground that "it is the right of the people of a State to amend their Constitution subject only to the Constitution of the United States" As every revolted State is required to accept the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution, which provides for the disfranchisement of any class by the States, in case such States choose to have their representation in Congress proportionately reduced, this proviso that the reorganized States shall never limit the exercise of the suffrage, is absurd It is in conflict with the fundamental principles on which the reconstruction policy of Congress is based, and has been declared such by that body. Of course Congress will not do so inconsistent a thing as to adopt this proposition for Arkansas which it so recently rejected in the case of Alabama. Nor will it insist on the ratification of the fourteenth amendment, and then require as a condition of admission the assent of the reorganized States to a measure which is directly antagonistic to the amendment.

The action of Congress in reducing the taxes does not suit Secretary McCulloch He has written a letter protesting against it, and predicting disastrous results. The real distress of Johnson's Secretary is sufficiently palpable. The reduction of the taxes takes too potent an argument out of the mouths of the Democrats in the great Presidential campaign Their speeches will have to be revised, and their groans and agonies over a tax ridden people left out. Their power has been fatally damped by the wisdom of Congress, and it is but natural that a wail should follow. The wonder is that a strenuous and long winded veto of the bill has not been inflicted on the country by A. Johnson, attorney for the Democratic party

The New York Atlas, a representative Democratic journal, and one of the ablest of that party, in an editorial urging the Democracy to nominate Mr Chase as President, says: "It is idle to deny the fact, distasteful as it may be, that as things stand now the prospects of the election of a Democratic President next November are not very brilliant." After speaking of other reasons that tend to the election of Grant, it adds, "to all these potent forces the prejudices that exist in many parts of the country against the organization on the score of alleged complicity, or at least sympathy with the rebellion, and it will be seen that the Democratic party must accomplish miracles to win in so unusual a contest"

In 1863, rebel Governor Vance of North Carolina, was delivering a speech to a rebel regiment, in which he exhorted them "to fight until they filled hell as full of Yankees that their feet would stick out of the windows" Vance evidently borrowed this style of oratory from Ben Hayden, who had declared in public speeches in this State a year or two before, that if he had power he would "fill the jails so full of Copperheads that their feet would stick out through the cracks" Vance was nominated a short time ago as the "Democratic" candidate for Governor of North Carolina. Ben Hayden should go after him for stealing his oratorical thunder.

Smith says he would leave the blacks of the South to the control of their former masters The Jackson, (Miss) Democrat tells what those loving ex slaveholder would do with them, in the following decree which it publishes in the biggest type its office can supply.

> The negro must be deported or exterminated! All the devil-begotten imps of darkness, whether black or brown, whether negroes or Indians, whether mongols or mulattoes, should at once be dismissed, and therefore, from the care, from the sight, and even from the thoughts of the heaven born whites

This is what Rev. Joseph Smith, with his peculiar ethics, calls justice and humanity.

C C. Burr, who stumped New Hampshire and Connecticut for the "Democracy" this spring and who is editor of the Old Guard, "the only Democratic magazine in the United States," talks in this wise in that high-toned periodical

> "A hundred men of the pluck and patriotism of Wilkes Booth, at the start of these terrible despotisms, would have saved our country. The moment any man begins to play the despot, he forfeits his right to life. Just as many days as these infamous tyrants (Grant, Sherman, Schofield, and the Radical members of Congress) have lived since they began their despotisms, have they lived too long."

Says the Eugene State Journal "Every Democratic speaker that we have listened to yet, during the present campaign, has been surprised at his opponent for wishing to advert to the past record of the Democratic party, and besought them not to persist in this, but to look at what the party promises to do. Now we think that a party or a man must have a very shabby character that is so afraid of having his past record spoken of. If a man's character has been unblemished and unspotted he is not afraid or ashamed to have it referred to."

Republicans do not intend to be a party to the rivalry between negroes and Democrats. All they want is to see each side have fair play, and if the negroes get above the Democrats, as the latter seems to fear they will, the Republicans would not on that account disfranchise the Democrats They are unwilling to see any class of men oppressed by any other class. Fair play is their motto.

A city print says: It is rumored that J S Smith, Democratic candidate for Congress, intends erecting a brick hotel in the northern end of the city during the coming year." All very proper, there is likely to be nothing to call him away or prevent him from attending to his duties as landlord Smith may possibly be able to keep a hotel, but he can't go to Congress.

We have received the March number of the Oregon Physio Medical Journal. Time has not been afforded us for anything like a fair examination of its contents. Dipping into here and there, however, we find it controversial in tone and apparently attacking all the medical "doxies" without stint The Journal is published at Salem by Dr J C Shelton.

Investigations have been had before the Pennsylvania Legislature which show that a series of stupendous election frauds have been long systematically perpetrated by the Democratic party of that State. It is clearly established that the Democratic candidate for Supreme Judge was elected last fall by these fraudulent practices

Not long since, says the San Francisco Bulletin, a Chinese merchant in this city on being shoved off the sidewalk by a gang of fellows who were inspired by the noble sentiment that this is a "white man's country," turned upon his persecutors with the quiet sarcasm—"You call us heathen!"

The Herald says it never denounces the South [illegible] the rebellion is played out. Neither the editor of that paper nor his party denounced it when like Jeshurun it "waxed fat and kicked" They were as clear of denouncing then as they are now

A Litchfield (Conn) Democrat lately ordered his Republican paper discontinued, but it kept coming One of his friends suggested that they were trying to make a Republican of him, "Well," said he, "they'll find out they're casting pearls before swine."

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY

The Olympia Transcript says that several men of capital from Oregon have recently visited the Sound on the lookout for town sites, railroad terminus, mill sites, vacant land, etc.

There are good promises of abundant grain and fruit crops in the Sound country

The Transcript has an article on "dog fish oil," showing that it can easily be obtained in large quantities from fish taken in the waters of the Sound, and such an enterprise would pay well

There is at present a great scarcity of laborers on Puget Sound Several hundred good hands could find immediate employment at the mills Wages are fifty dollars a month and board

The Chehalis country offers good prospects for settlers. The settlements are growing, and there is an abundance of good rich land still untaken

REPLY
AGENTS OF THE NORTHWESTERN
MUTUAL LIFE INS. CO.
TO THE
Agents of the Mutual Life Ins. Co,
OF NEW YORK

An advertisement appearing in the daily papers rather personal in its nature, and directly pointing to us as the authors of an advertisement headed, "A Visit to the Mutual Life" merits from us a reply The notice first appeared in a paper published in the Eastern States in form of a correspondence, and has since that time been copied by the Daily Bulletin and Alta of San Francisco, and the Daily Sacramento Union, and up to the present time has been denied by no agent of the Mutual Life

Your remarks in regard to "traducing" other companies, we consider rather ill timed from you, representing a company that its agents are notorious for vilifying, and its different pamphlets are filled with matter against other companies

Policy holder No 46 75 has a good thing in the Mutual Life even if his dividend was but 25 per cent, and if you can satisfy us that it is a rule of your company to pay a dividend in cash not in an isolated case fixed up to answer "A Visit to the Mutual Life," which you were in paying the dividend preparing to answer—we will take some stock in your representations Your advice to us we accept with good grace, and as your item seems a challenge, we mention a few facts The status of the Northwestern is well known to every party we insure, each and all of them, having in their possession a detailed statement of the receipts, disbursements and investments of our company. Said statement shows every item separate, among others, paid Home Office salaries $29,450 00 We fail to find it in your last official report as a separate item, but in your report of 1865 we find it to be $70,451 94 a year, when your business was about the same in amount as ours in 1867. Our assets consist of Cash, Loans on Bond and Mortgage (bearing 10 per cent. interest instead of 6), Wisconsin Bonds, United States Bonds and Loan Notes Your company assert that "its assets are invested in the safest and best of securities. The Northwestern assert that no company in the world can boast of better and safer investments, the company never having lost a dollar on them. The Mutual Life made one investment variously estimated at from $5,000 to $15,000 in a wine supper We admit the Northwestern has never made an investment of one dollar in wine suppers, and we think the officers of a Mutual Life Company who would take even $5,000 of a trust so sacred and invest in a wine supper ought to have all the glory of so safe and profitable an investment Another investment of the Mutual Life under the head of "Expenditure," page 174, Barnes Report, Jan 1st, 1866 Loss on sale of real estate, $8,607 68." That must have been a very safe investment

Please examine the Wall Street Underwriter of January, 1868, where you will find the following "The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co of Milwaukee, has filed a statement in the New York Insurance department and is now doing business in this State"

The official report of the Massachusetts Insurance commission for 1867, shows the surplus over all liabilities.

Northwestern, $120 03 for each $100.
Mutual Life, $109 49 for each $100

The Northwestern make an annual dividend, commencing three years from date, of policy exceeding by a large per centage the dividends of the Mutual Life, but practically anticipating their dividend by taking a portion note if the applicant so elects (of which the following is an illustration A party aged thirty wishes to draw $1000 at the age of forty, can pay the Northwestern cash, annually $56 74 and note, annually $18 52. Total, $95 26. In the Mutual Life he can pay, all cash, $104 58 to a man of moderate means, offering the advantage in the Northwestern over Mutual Life of nearly double the insurance for the same amount of money

The Mutual Life claims to make an annual dividend.

The amended charter of the Mutual Life Insurance Company (passed April 2d, 1862,) prohibits the application of a dividend to the reduction of any annual premiums "without the consent first had and obtained of the Superintendent of the Insurance department after each dividend" As to all persons entitled to such dividends, see Mutual Life Co.'s report, 1862, and Barnes' report, 1863, page 638.

The Mutual Life anticipates and insures the "consent" of the Insurance Superintendent to such an application of dividends for the future! It would seem quite absurd under the circumstances, even to conjecture what would be the cost of maintaining a policy in that Company for the next few years Your promises to pay dividends after one year may be made in sincerity and good faith, but what surety have you that the Insurance Superintendent of the State will permit it? What assurance have the policy holders that they will ever realize a dividend?

Having answered each of your queries, we leave the subject in your hands, with the request that if you have any points on the Northwestern you will make them known, and that we will reply to each and every article The reputation of the Northwestern is not so well known but that we court investigation.

[illegible] WALLA WALLA.—We clip the following [illegible] Walla Statesman of the 24th.: "Over [illegible] of wheat and flour passed down the river from W. [illegible] during the last thirty days. The largest load, at one time, was taken by the steamer [illegible], being one hundred and sixteen tons. [illegible] horses were sold in this market during the past week, at ranging from fifteen to twenty dollars. The streets are daily crowded with Indians, eager and anxious to dispose of animals at the above rates. Reese's mill, we [illegible] is now turning out over one hundred barrels of flour daily .... An old settler named James Johnston, living about three miles out of town, died very [illegible]ly on T[illegible]day last. Deceased had been unwell [illegible] time, but still was able to be about. On Tuesday he appeared to be in his usual health, and at two [illegible] took dinner. About four o'clock his daughter [illegible] to go to the stable and found her father lying on his face in one of the stalls in an insensible condition. He was im[illegible]diately removed to the house, when he died in a few minutes. Deceased emigrated from Illinois, and had lived in the Valley since 1800. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss.

[illegible] FOR THE RAILROADS.—Col. Chapman is taking a zealous interest in the railroads recently begun at this city. During last week, he delivered addresses at two or three places up the valley. The Eugene Journal says: "Last Monday afternoon at two o'clock, Colonel [illegible] a large audience at the Court House, on the subject of railroads. His speech was made up of [illegible] in regard to the great benefits conferred on a State by railroad communication with other [illegible] of the country. The arguments used in favor of the projected railroads are not new to the majority of people where like enterprises have succeeded, but probably were new to a number who listened to the Colonel, and who had never been personally interested in helping [illegible] a road. The people are awake on the subject, and have investigated it until not a man interested in the [illegible] of the State can be found to oppose the [illegible]. We cannot give a full report of his speech on account of [illegible]. The Colonel was followed by J. H. D. [illegible] in a short speech on the same subject. S. [illegible] next presented the matter to the audience, and said Mr. Henderson and himself would give the people an opportunity to subscribe for stock in a short time."

THE STEAMER U. S. GRANT.—Since his purchase of the [illegible] U. S. Grant, Captain Gray has overhauled and rebuilt her. The engine and boiler arrangements have been very thoroughly reconstructed; new and [illegible] deck knees have been put in all along each side to [illegible]then her sides and deck; the forward bulwarks have been raised; her house has been cut down and new-[illegible]; a passenger cabin has been constructed aft; and everything in general has been put in tip top trim, for river or sea-going services. The cabin will seat about twenty-five or thirty people very comfortably; but it has no sleeping accommodations, the steamer not being [illegible] for long trips. Her field of service will be on the bays about the mouth of the Columbia river. Everything being about completed, Capt. Gray had her out on a [illegible] yesterday, and he informs us that the machinery [illegible] to his entire satisfaction. In short, the Grant is now a very neat, staunch and fast little craft and in her new make up her old acquaintances would hardly know her. She will leave here for Astoria to-morrow [illegible]. We wish the Captain and his craft all possible good luck.

THE NEW SAW MILL.—The new saw mill in course of [illegible] by Messrs. Estes & Stimson, is progressing rapidly. The frame is up and the rafters are on, ready to [illegible] the roof. It is one of the largest and most substantial structures in the State. It stands upon piles driven in the river and thoroughly braced in every direction. On the land side, a substantial stone pier has been built to receive the engine. The boiler will rest upon another, independent of the building. The first story will contain nothing but the driving machinery, [illegible], etc., while the saws will run in the upper story. Under the mill, below it, and on the shore side, an immense wharf is to be constructed—not less than one hundred feet wide and near four hundred feet long—to be used as a lumber yard. It is expected that the establishment will be put in operation by the first of July. It will be an institution, creditable to the proprietors and to the city.

FROM VANCOUVER.—We learn from a gentleman from [illegible], that the District Court, Judge Wyche, presiding, is rushing business along in a very lively way. At the [illegible] of the term there were sixty cases on the [illegible], civil and criminal, most of which have been disposed of. In addition to the above, the grand jury [illegible] which was a joint indictment against John Hayden, William Devine and [illegible] Walsh [illegible] Preble at Chinook, last winter. The trial of these defendants was expected to begin yesterday. ... The M. E. Church was re-[illegible] for Divine service last Sunday by Rev. H. K. Hines. The building had been for some time closed while undergoing repairs.

[illegible] KEROSENE LAMPS EXPLODE.—One of our exchanges, speaking of the frequent explosions of kerosene lamps, lately, designs the following very reasonable explanation: "The explosion is caused by a practice of neglecting to cut off the charred portion of the wick when the lamp is filled; observation will show that in a few days' use the wick becomes like charcoal in composition for an inch below the top of the tube containing it, and after the lamp has burned a short time the heated tube fires all of the charred portion of the wick inside, and that sets the oil on fire below; this may be prevented by cutting of a sufficient portion of the charred wick [illegible] after using the lamp."

WASHINGTON GUARD'S ANNUAL PICNIC.—Capt. Mills informs us that the Washington Guard will give its Annual Invitation Picnic, on or about the 20th of May. The [illegible] will be such only as receive cards of invitation, and great care will be exercised in distributing cards, so that the [illegible] shall be entirely congenial. Though the [illegible] day and the place of holding the festivities have [illegible] fixed, the members of the company are [illegible] with the arrangements, in style to insure a first rate time. The Guard boys understand the picnic [illegible] thoroughly, and they intend that the affair of this year shall eclipse all their former efforts in this line.

[illegible].—Mr. Rinearson, U. S. Collector at [illegible], informs us that the steamer Rainier, plying on the [illegible] river, has been libeled in the name of the [illegible] States, for violation of the laws relating to [illegible] and [illegible]. It seems the owners have never [illegible] of the usual marine papers—or, at least the information [illegible] charges. There are eighteen distinct [illegible] of the law charged by the information, each of which, if proved in court, will subject the owners to a heavy penalty.

[illegible] EXHIBITION.—We are informed that on Friday [illegible], May 1st, there will be a children's exhibition [illegible] the Baptist church, to be conducted by the members of the Baptist Sunday school. The exercises will be, [illegible] of an interesting character, but the concluding piece will be a particularly good one—the coronation of the May Queen, a piece performed last year with [illegible]. The proceeds of the exhibition are to be applied to the aid of the Sunday School library.

[illegible] PRODUCE.—Arrived, yesterday, per steamer [illegible] sks dried apples, 1 box eggs, 2 rolls leather, 2 [illegible] bacon, 20 boxes apples, 10 tons pig iron. Per [illegible] Senator, 914 qr sks flour, 2 boxes unspecified, 96 [illegible], 481 bags wheat, 45 hlf bbls dried apples, [illegible] pig iron. Per steamer Alert, 1,561 qr sks flour, [illegible] wheat, 23 sks feed, 12 boxes eggs, 4 hlf bbls [illegible] 4 hogs.

LOST A WATCH.—On Monday, while the steamer Senator [illegible] the landing at Oswego, Charley Pope, the purser, lost his watch overboard. It slipped out of his pocket [illegible] in a stooping posture, and plumped into [illegible]. The only consolation Charley has is that the [illegible] of that neighborhood will hereafter know when to go to [illegible].

[illegible] FOR THE CALIFORNIA MARKET.—We learn from the Salem Record that Messrs. Arker & Co., of this city, [illegible] Salem on Monday with a band of fifty [illegible] they have purchased up the valley for the [illegible] market. These gentlemen have shipped heretofore quite a large number of very fine, large draft horses.

[illegible] AMONG THE CHINAMEN.—About twenty-five of the Chinamen employed on the Oregon Central Railroad [illegible] side, knocked off work yesterday and came [illegible] and baggage, to this city. It is said they want [illegible] too muchee workee, too muchee not go pay, Chinaman no likee.

FOR FRASER RIVER.—Preparations are in progress on the steamship Active to take on board a large number of sheep and beef cattle for some point on Fraser [illegible], to which place she will proceed upon her present [illegible] immediately upon reaching Victoria.

[illegible].—A business letter from New York, under date of April 3d, received yesterday, closes with the following paragraph: "Mr. Mercer's vessel is loading [illegible]—she is a good bring." She is to sail from New York for Portland, direct.

[illegible] FESTIVAL.—The colored people of this city, [illegible] in founding a church, are making preparations [illegible] to be held next Friday evening. The funds [illegible] are to be devoted to fitting up a room in which [illegible] Divine worship.

[illegible] TURNOUT.—To see that new wagon of Myers' [illegible] Myers in it, trying to steer the horse in front, [illegible] would naturally conclude that Myers is getting along in the world. The wagon and Myers together make a very neat turn-out.

[illegible] AT M[illegible].—Capt. Fisher informs us that an [illegible] white negress—was on exhibition at [illegible] Monday evening. Her proprietor delivered a [illegible], as usual, was "moral and instructive."

[illegible]. Rev. D. L. Spaulding, the pastor of the M. E. Church at Vancouver desires to return thanks to the people of the post for valuable services rendered in the late repairs to the church building.

IN BANKRUPTCY.—On the 25th inst., before W. Lair Hill, Register, L. Ryan and L. L. Thomas were, upon their own petitions, declared bankrupts, and warrants were issued accordingly.

SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the Presbyterian congregation will have a sociable this evening, at the basement room of the church.

[illegible]. The steamship Active will sail for Victoria on Friday, the 1st of May.

NEW STYLE BUSINESS COATS.—Berman Bros. new business coats are the most elegant garments in Portland. Their new shape [illegible] are worn by all fashionable men. The suits made in their merchant tailoring establishment are now leading the fashions in Portland.

FURNITURE.—We [illegible] the attention of those in want of furniture to the advertisement of Burgren & Shindler. HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,

Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

SOLD EVERYWHERE.

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Ku-klux Klan

[From the New York Commercial Advertiser]

Journals which sympathized with the Southern side during the rebellion now ridicule the idea that there is any organization of the above name in Tennessee. Whether this be its right name or not, it is, however certain that there is a secret and wide-spread organization in that State bent upon mischief and the overthrow of law and order. Hardly a day passes without bringing accounts of an outrage perpetrated by its members in some locality. A few days since they left a notice at the house of one Mr Haney well known for his Union sentiments, living near Waverly, to quit the country. Paying no attention to the demand he was last week dragged from his house with a rope around his neck and after being kicked, whipped, and otherwise maltreated was found by his wife in an unconscious condition in a forest. The organization has become very formidable in middle and western Tennessee. In Dyer, Lincoln and Rutherford counties they have been guilty of so many excesses that a reign of terror almost prevails among the Unionists and the blacks. It was doubtless upon those and similar excesses that General Thomas founded the report which he recently despatched to Washington, representing that the ex Confederates throughout the State were becoming very troublesome, and threatened to completely set at defiance, and, if possible, overthrow the civil authorities of the State.

Prior to the rebellion Tennessee was cursed with the presence of many of the most desperate characters in the country. It seemed to be the middle ground where the worst elements of Northern and Southern society met and fused. When the war broke out there was no State in the second [illegible] so productive of outrages and atrocities. In no other State were Unionists treated with such inhumanity and barbarity. Throughout the Eastern portions of the State men were hung every day and their bodies suspended in public places to be scoffed at by the infuriated populace.

The Confederate leaders did not, with a few exceptions, sanction these barbarities. They were [illegible] profligate characters alluded to above, who flocked into the State from all quarters. As the Union standards were borne forward and Tennessee was recovered these desperadoes retired further Southward along with the Confederate armies frequently outraging and robbing friend and foe alike and during the latter part of the war the State became more peaceable than it has since been at times.

Unfortunately these desperadoes were not all of them buried under the sod, but lived to return. These undoubtedly are the men who are now resuming so much trouble and constitute the Ku-Klux Klan organization. The Confederate soldiers, who fought bravely for what they conceived to be a righteous cause, and then submitted to the Government and gave their paroles, are probably—the [illegible] mass of them—disposed to be peaceable, quiet, and orderly. They have had enough of war and [illegible] to acquiesce in the new [illegible] cherishing the hope that [illegible] of amelioration [illegible] are interested alike with the Unionists in [illegible] all such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan. In fact they are more interested in [illegible] as a great deal of odium is made to rest upon [illegible] For their own reputation and good name they should cooperate in bringing to justice all [illegible] desperadoes, whose atrocities are now [illegible] attributed by many to the late Confederates.

Tennessee is one of the most favored of States in soil and climate, and should regain her former position of influence and power in the Union. To effect this emigration will be required. To secure emigration, peace, order, and tranquility must be restored. How vital, therefore, it is to the interests of all the well-disposed people of the State that every [illegible] crime and outlawry be immediately and completely suppressed and eradicated !

[illegible] Years Ago.

While Mr Bingham, chairman of the managers on the part of the House of Representatives, was yesterday afternoon formally arraigning Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, and in the "name of all the people thereof demanding his trial by the Senate of the United States [illegible] a spectator in the crowded galleries, or a Senator or Representative in the equally crowded Senate Chamber, that did not think of this day three years ago, says the Washington Chronicle of March 5th, 1868, when Andrew Johnson made his inaugural speech as Vice President. The audience was far more brilliant on the 4th of March, 1865, than yesterday and the loyal [illegible] and women composing it were full of joy over the re election of the beloved Lincoln and the more [illegible] coming certainty of Grant's great victories. How soon the general joy was exchanged for terrible mortification at the conduct of Andrew Johnson it did not need the painful amusement of the foreign ambassadors and the bitter exultation of the sympathizers with treason to confirm. Where yesterday sat the managers of the House, bearing the Articles of Impeachment, then sat the Cabinet of Mr Lincoln and the Judges of the Supreme Court, while around them clustered the army and navy and the representatives of foreign powers, and facing these sat the re elected President himself. The conspicuous figure of the time was Andrew Johnson and never while language or memory endures will his conduct be forgotten. What followed? One prolonged yell arose from the Democrats for the resignation or expulsion of the man who had so deeply wounded the nation's honor and so recklessly trampled under foot all the decencies of life. There was no mercy for him among his present [illegible] Nothing would satisfy them but his instant ejection from the post he had defiled. And when the great Republican party th[illegible] the mantle of its forgiveness over the wretched offender it was instantly denounced as a weakness and held up to universal scorn.

Notwithstanding all Mr Thad Stevens's brusqueness and contempt of the little men around him many stories are told of his benevolence and sympathy with suffering. Not long since while on his way to the capitol he met a poor woman in great distress. She told him that she had lost [illegible]-five cents her market money and that she had nothing to buy food for her children. "What a lucky woman you are," said Mr Stevens. "I have just found what you have lost!" putting his hand into his pocket and giving her a five dollar bill. A few days ago he was appealed to by a hard working man who said he could get no employment anywhere. "Well" said Mr Stevens "I have none to give you but you can consider yourself engaged to me whenever I have [illegible] and with this he placed a liberal sum of money in [illegible] hands. These incidents are [illegible] and have brightened a long and tumultuous life.

A countess of Anjou in the fifteenth century paid for one book two hundred sheep five quarters of wheat, and the same quantity of rye and millet, and in early times the loan of a book was considered to be an affair of such importance that in 1299 the Bishop of Winchester on borrowing a bible from a convent in that city was obliged to give a bond for its restoration drawn up in the most solemn manner, and Louis XI in 1471 was compelled to deposit a large quantity of plate and to get some of his nobles to join with him in a bond under a heavy penalty to restore it before he could procure the loan of a book which he borrowed from the faculty of medicine at Paris.

In Dansville, New York lately Charles Ackley sued Michael O Hearn for use of room lights fuel meals &c while defendant was sparking his daughter at plaintiff's house. The prosecution showed that defendant was at his house from three to five nights in a week and usually stayed until four o clock in the morning and sometimes till after breakfast, but the jury couldn't see there was anything in that to make a fuss about and gave a verdict to the defense.

Revolutions Manufactured to Order.

The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser has the following on a sensational report of the New York Herald which our readers will remember was telegraphed here a short time ago

There seems to be a lively strife among political sensation journals just at present for the championship in the sensation. Almost every day we have some disclosure which would be startling in the last degree if the popular nerves had not been deadened by too frequent repetition. The people have become like a gymnast [illegible] highly sensitized and so familiar with sensations of all kinds that accustomed stimulants have lost their effect. Announcements which would have profoundly stirred the country a decade ago are now received with apathy and the consequence is that enterprising journals of the sensational school feel spurred to renewed exertions to supply a pabulum of increased pungency.

The New York Herald has for many years held the lead in this style of journalism. It has fabricated and published more first class sensations than any other newspaper in the land. Of late however the New York World has been industriously emulating the Herald in that respect and has seemed to be in fair way of eclipsing it. It appears, however, that the Herald is not [illegible] to submit to have its younger contemporary steal its prescriptive thunder and it has been roused itself to renewed exertions to defend its [illegible]. Its last effort in this direction manifested in its yesterday's issue, was really a tistic and shows that journalistic sensation lying may upon occasion be considered—as De Quincey considered murder—as one of the Fine Arts.

We presume, although we are not positively informed that an order was quietly flashed over the wires from the presiding genius of the Herald to his Washington special to manufacture a first class plausible and piquant political revolution for yesterday's paper. The response was a speedy accomplishment fully vindicating the resources of invention possessed by that individual. The city readers of the Herald had it upon their breakfast tables yesterday morning and no doubt it was perused it with a feeble smile of satisfaction. Stripped of its rhetorical ornamentation it was to the effect that it has been determined in the Jacobin counsels of Congress that Gen Grant should be Mr Johnson's immediate successor in the White House! It having been concluded that Wade was ineligible under the Constitution and that Colfax was undesirable, a bill was quietly introduced by Mr Churchill providing that the Chief Justice should take the Executive chair upon Mr Johnson's removal by impeachment. This bill quoth the Herald man looks very innocent on the surface but is only designed as a stalking horse to be trotted quietly through both houses of Congress in two readings after which it is to be suddenly saddled with a revolutionary amendment proclaiming General Ulysses S Grant the successor of Mr Johnson and this is to be put through both houses without debate under the gag law of the previous question "

All the details of this plot plan are nicely worked out by the inventor. Speaker Colfax is to resign any right to the succession and to refuse to receive the office thus passing it over to General Grant in consideration of which Mr Colfax has been promised the nomination as Vice President by the Chicago Convention while General Grant is to be continued as the head of the ticket. Once in power, General Grant is to take all necessary steps to perpetuate his reign by securing the right formality of a popular election in November but, even failing that in holding the place for the next four years! The Herald man concludes with the pathetic exclamation We are a Republic to-day. For how long? To which of course Echo is supposed to make Hibernian response all over the land ! Quousque O Quousque

We submit that this last device of the Herald is neat and artistic. It puts it a whole length ahead of its ambitious rival or to use a Yankee phrase it "beats the World." If it be not intended as an April Fool hoax —of which a faint suspicion comes over us,—it is really a creditable bit of sensation enterprise. It certainly is the best "revolution" of the manufactured to order plan that we have had in many a day

The Aereator

A WONDERFUL FLYING MACHINE IN COURSE OF CONSTRUCTION

[From the St Louis Dispatch]

W S Hutchings, of St Louis the inventor has laid his plans before the aeronauts in America and all pronounce it the only success ever made in aerial navigation—in navigating the air and turning in any direction, at any height with the pleasure of the navigator. This wonderful invention of navigating the air has at last been successful. The model has already been built in twenty eight inches in height and works with the utmost ease and upon mechanical and philosophical principles.

In constructing this machine, the laws of gravitation have been well studied. The large machine now in course of construction, measures twenty eight feet in height, with an expansion of twenty two feet, full weight of the entire machine 285 pounds when ready for aerial navigation capable of carrying with ease in the air 150 pounds. The principle is entirely new and the invention claims the compression of hot and cold air in running a caloric engine, which is attached to the back. The body is enclosed in a complete set of mail armor, made of vulcanized India rubber and brass, with glass in front which protects the face and body from the wind. Attached to the engine and connected by means of a tube passing over the shoulder, is a large cylinder containing the compressed air, which is worked with each hand. By this means the navigator can go up or down with ease and regulates the engine at his own leisure. Attached to the feet head and cylinder, are double inflated wings some four feet in length and by means of cords and India rubber valves attached to the fly wheels of the engine are two large inflated wings on the compressed air principle, eighteen feet in length, and which turn with lightning speed in a circular revolution bearing up the entire machine. Immediately above the engine is attached by means of cords, a large double inflated parachute measuring sixty six feet in circumference, with a tube connecting from the centre with the caloric engine. This is the protection in making an ascension without danger to the aeronaut in case of accident or breaking of the machine. We understand the first trial will take place near this city with the wonderful feat of jumping out of a balloon at the height of 2 000 feet from the earth and as the inventor proposes to accomplish this himself he has great confidence in his own invention. If it is a success aerial navigation is certainly the most useful invention of modern times, outrivalling telegraph or steam navigation.

Mrs Ben Wade

[Washington correspondence Philadelphia Press]

Come reader come into the cool refreshing shade. You are in the presence of the woman who in all human probability will be one above all others of her sex to whom the argus eyes of this great nation will soon be directed. She is in the full meridian of middle life tall and distinguished looking as one would imagine a Roman matron might be in the days of Italian glory. And it would seem that she is precisely such a mate as her bluff and out speaking husband would select for a life-long journey in double harness.

It is well known in Washington that Mrs Wade has not the least ambition to shine in the fashionable world that she has been heard to express her extreme distaste for her formal reception [illegible] it has even been whispered by those who ought to know, that she has the old fashioned love for the click of knitting needles and the nation may yet find out that the reason why Senator Wade has stood so firm for the right was because his feet had been clad in stockings of domestic manufacture for this is no more astonishing than had Archimedes the slightest point on which to rest his fulcrum he might have moved the whole world.

For many years Mrs Wade's name has been identified with the public charitable institutions at Washington, as well as elsewhere. Says the Secretary of the Newsboys Home. It is her private benevolence that will be longest remembered for it is yet to be known when a worthy object was sent from her presence unrelieved." When we remember her scholarly culture her extensive reading, and her acquaintance with the [illegible] of the age, would it not almost seem that this second tragedy this suicide instead of assassination at the White House was the providential means taken to purify the halls of legislation at the very fountain head? For if Senator Wade drifts into the Executive chair through no fault or effort of his own bound by no promise to friend or foe, what hinders him from seizing the helm of the Ship of State, and with the aid of Congress, guiding her out of the breakers into the calm still waters of Republican prosperity and peace. As only a Hercules can perform this labor, this may account for the succession as well as for Senator Wade's clear head broad shoulders and stout heart and when it happens that there will accompany him to the Executive Mansion the same social atmosphere that characterized the days of Mrs Adams and Mrs Madison will it not seem like a return to the honest simplicity of our forefathers or like the long delayed perfecting of the Republic's youthful lays?

John Forsyth of the Mobile Register tosses Andrew Johnson aside. He says Johnson never did all this with Democrats that he allowed the Philadelphia Convention to fail and has declined to turn out Republican office-holders to give place to the hungry Democracy.

During Sam Houston's incumbency of the Gubernatorial chair in Texas it was proposed in the Senate of that turbulent State to abolish the State Geological Commission, of which a very [illegible] German professor was chief. On being asked his opinion Houston said he was opposed to abolishing the commission, as the professor was a very useful man very [illegible] for [illegible] added the Governor he has already discovered six distinct strata of dirt on Dick Scully's neck with various animalcula. Dick was a member of Congress.

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of long standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases [illegible]

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a [illegible] from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their sunken [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken [illegible] tions disqualifying them for the happiness of [illegible] or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid [illegible] sands suffer until death closes the scene. Let guardians friends attend to those who are [illegible] any of these horrible life-destroying maladies [illegible] they are cured for and cured before it be too late. [illegible] them immediately to Doctor Gibbon who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, [illegible] publicity using the names of eminent physicians [illegible] Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and strictly inquiry or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to an almost [illegible] producing with unerring certainty the [illegible] of morbid symptoms unless combatted by [illegible] ical measures via Sallow countenance dark [illegible] the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, about the loins weakness of the limbs [illegible] blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society loss of memory [illegible] flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption [illegible] sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately [illegible] or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which is [illegible] effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are under any of these fearful maladies should not [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon them nor [illegible] obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give his patient a written instrument binding him [illegible] radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use. For Ten Dollars [illegible] letter or through Wells Fargo & Co's.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose [illegible] found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and [illegible] lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible] makers newspaper carriers intelligence office [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid [illegible] is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr Gibbon does not deceive [illegible] exhibiting bogus titles certificates, pretended [illegible] letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy those who call at his office of his ability to treat [illegible] proposes to cure.
